The following categories are examples of teachers who may meet the above criteria. Categories will vary with individual education programs.

- Academic faculty
- Clinical faculty
- Guest Lecturer

1. Demonstrate excellence in one or more of the following:
 - Academic education

 - Clinical preceptor / Mentor
2. Contribute to a positive learning environment
3. Support and enhance basic and lifelong learning skills
4. Exemplify and/or support the highest standards of midwifery practice

Process of Selection:

1. Annually, each Education Program Director will receive the information to initiate the nomination and selection process. The Program Director may initiate the process at any time before the May 7, 2010 deadline that is appropriate for their program. The recommendation is that the Program Director choose a time when the maximum number of students can participate. The Program Director appoints a Student Coordinator to manage the student activities in the nomination and selection process. Whenever possible, the Program Director is encouraged to provide the Student Coordinator with a list of the Program's educational participants to assist the students in identifying eligible individuals.
2. All students active in the CNM/CM program, full time or part time, are eligible and encouraged to participate in the nomination of the teacher. The Student Coordinator will provide each student with a copy of the eligibility and selection criteria. The Student Coordinator will identify a confidential process for nomination and conducting the nomination and selection process. Education programs with small, geographically close students may use a confidential closed session with ballots. Programs with large numbers and/or geographically diverse students may use a mail or electronic ballot system. It is emphasized that confidentiality should be maintained.
3. When the Excellence in Teaching nominee is selected by the students, the Student Coordinator completes the top part of the Excellence In Teaching Award Nomination. The Student Coordinator then gives the form to the Program Director. The Program Director may not change or alter the student selections in any way. The Program Director signs the form confirming that the selected teacher participates in the Education Program and that the students selected the nominee without influence of faculty.
4. The A.C.N.M. Foundation Board of Trustees will complete a final review of the selected candidates prior to the ACNM Annual Meeting.
5. Prior to the ACNM Annual Meeting, the A.C.N.M. Foundation will notify the recipient, the Program Director, the Dean or other individual identified on the nomination form. Recipients will be published in Quickening.
6. Recipients will receive non-monetary awards including a certificate and pin. Recipients are encouraged to wear their pin in their academic/clinical setting and at all ACNM events.
7. The A.C.N.M. Foundation will maintain a Faculty Honor Roll of all Excellence in Teaching Award recipients.
8. Programs may select one teacher per year. 2010 candidate submissions must be received in the A.C.N.M. Foundation office not later than May 7, 2010.
